Map and terrain

Friday: Ribe town

1:3,000 for classes H/D45+ other classes 1:4,000.

Ribe town is an old market town, with many nice and exciting little passages and roads. There is a lot of traffic in the area, so you have to be careful using pedestrian crossings and be considerate of the city's citizens.

We come into many farm environments and have been given permission to do so, so be considerate of the residents.

It is emphasized that you comply with the traffic law, and respect private (olive green) areas and areas with exhibitions/outdoor dining (violet) just as it is strictly forbidden to climb hedges and other plantings that are marked as impassable (dark green). We would like to come again.

There is a music festival in Ribe that evening and you will be running past the festival site, where there may be many people. Please be considerate.

Saturday/Sunday: Stensbæk Plantage

1:10:000 and 7,500 revised in 2026 by Vagn Hansen and Lars Klogborg

Slightly to heavily hilly mixed deciduous and coniferous forest. The forest is very varied and there are both inland signs, changing permeability and very varied with a well-developed trail network. There are many mountain bike trails in the forest and not all of them are on the map.

Saturday: There is a sheep fence in a large area of the inland dunes and it is okay to pass, show consideration for the sheep.

Sunday: There are cows in the forest and in the inland dunes, show consideration so that they do not get scared of you. The fences are okay to pass, but there may be electricity in them.
